

Aviation Caps

$1.48 Values, 85c
4-ply zephyr, hand crocheted, in two-tone effects; all colors.

Kaufmann & Co.

Social and Personal

A BRILLIANT audience filled the parlors of the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Lucian H. Cooke gave an author's reading. Mrs. Cooke is a very handsome and very gifted woman, and her reception at the club was little short of an ovation. Mrs. Thomas Cary Johnston introduced Mrs. Cooke in a very happy little speech, in which she referred to the club's guest as "a ready heralded by her lovely face and delightful personality."

Mrs. Cooke read a selection from her recently published book, "Bypaths in Dixie," which has already won for its author much favorable comment. She has a fascinating personality and a charm of naturalness that made her program very unique and so pleasing to her audience. Her other sketches, as well as those in her book, are drawn from very real persons, and are descriptive of very real people. Mrs. Cooke's own "mamma" is the central figure of all of the dear little stories, and the freshness and originality of it all is what seemed most appealing. She is a Georgia woman by birth, and her life has been very rich and wide in her own culture and contact with people who have counted for much in the history of her State and her country.

Mrs. James D. Crump was chairman of the afternoon. Mrs. Cooke wore an imported gown of soft rose colored silk draped in smoke gray chiffon, was hand embroidered and fastened in a panel that fell to the bottom of the skirt. Her hat was trimmed in white plumes, and she wore gardenias. Hostesses included Mrs. Muncie and Mrs. Amos Gover, and they were assisted

DEMAND
The Flour That
Dunlop Gives Universal
Flour Satisfaction.

HYDROGEN PEROXIDE
SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOME.
The Great Germ Destroyer.
10c to $1.00.

T. A. MILLER CO.
Druggists, 519 E. Broad.
Mad. 3199. Hourly Deliveries.

Dorothy Dodd

Fall Opening, showing dainty, new, fashionable styles.
F. W. DABNEY & COMPANY,
Third and Broad Streets.

25 Per Cent. Cash Discount
Sale Now On at
Hopkins Furniture Co.,
7 and 9 West Broad St.

J. B. Mosby & Co.

Special sale of Silks begins today.

Hammond Florist
100 EAST BROAD STREET

Ask Grocers, Druggists Dealers for
POMPEIAN LUCCA OLIVE OIL
Genuine—Pure—Healthful

Get Everything Needed for Comfortable
Traveling at ROUNTREE'S
703 E. BROAD STREET

Go to Chasie
Trafieri for pure imported Olive Oil.

Mac. 4202. 500 W. Main St.

Tyle's
The New Imported Hairy Hats,
$2.00 $2.50 AND $3.00

by Mrs. George Warren and Mrs. Robert Bush. Mrs. Frank Duke and Mrs. Cecil Nell accompanied several of the songs interpolated in the reading, and Mrs. Duke sang a very charming little lullaby.

Guests for the afternoon included Mrs. John Minor, of Florida; Mrs. Ernest Fisher, of Virginia; Mrs. C. A. Blanton, Miss Carrie Gibbs, of the University of Virginia; Miss Josephine Clark, of Norfolk, and others.

Dance to Be Changed.
Owing to the absence of Miss Helen Adams from the city, the debutante dance will be omitted from the play, "Alice in Wonderland." Another dance will be substituted later.

Dinner at Country Club.
A very pretty dinner given Saturday night at the Country Club of Virginia was that at which James Ball was host in honor of his debutante sister, Miss Ellen Ball. Covers were laid for ten guests, and the table, which was decorated in pink and white chrysanthemums, was set in the main dining room of the clubhouse. Ball's guests asked to meet Mrs. Ball were Mrs. M. C. Gibbs, of Pennsylvania, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Baskerville, of this city, who will also come out in Richmond this winter; Miss Frances Beniss, Miss Mary Johnson, Miss Mary Ball, George Hawley, Kent Hawley, Dabney Lancaster and Mr. Johnson.

Important Meeting.
The executive board of the Virginia Home for Incubated Children met tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the home. All members of the board are asked to be present, as further arrangements for the coming year, Monday, October 30, will be made and a full attendance is desired.

Interesting Engagement.
Mrs. Sallie Thompson Trigg, of Abingdon, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Theodore Landrum, to David A. Preston, also of that place. The wedding is to be celebrated November 8 in the home of the bride's uncle, A. B. Trigg, in Abingdon. Miss Trigg is widely related throughout the state as is Mr. Preston, and their wedding is of much interest to Virginia society.

Another engagement recently announced that is of much interest in Richmond is that of Miss Katherine Trippie Newbill, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Christopher Newbill, to A. A. Crall, of Tappanhook. No date has been announced for the wedding, which will probably be celebrated in Tappanhook some time this winter. Miss Newbill is an exceedingly popular girl, and his visited in Richmond a number of times.

In Honor of Visitors.
Another affair to be given in honor of the Virginia Medical Society, which meets in Richmond this week for its annual session, will be a luncheon on Thursday. The luncheon will be given in the Valentine Museum from 1 to 4 o'clock, and will be a very interesting event.

Attends Shower.
Miss Mary Butler, who is visiting relatives in Danville for several weeks, was among the guests at a very pretty function last week in honor of Miss Wiseman. Miss Blanche Patton was hostess of the kitchen shower given for Miss Wiseman on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The house was decorated for the occasion with autumn blossoms and lots of orange and red. Little Gerald Frank, dressed as a chef, with a frying pan in his hand, led the guests of honor to the dining-room, where the gifts were piled on the table with bright little verses pinned on each.

Home Wedding.
A very pretty wedding was celebrated on Wednesday, October 18, at the home of Mrs. Eppa Schuman Cox, in Fairfax county, when her sister, Miss Sissie Lee, became the bride of Thomas Vernon Chalkley, of Richmond. The house was decorated in palms and quantities of lovely roses. The bride was gown in a blue cloth traveling suit, with hat and gloves of the same shade, and carried a bouquet of bride roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalkley left immediately after the ceremony for New York and Niagara Falls. Among those present at the ceremony on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Chalkley, of Richmond; Hurt Lee, of Kansas City, and others.

On Motor Trip.
Mr. and Mrs. George E. Booth, Jr., left the city Friday morning on a motor trip to Norfolk, where they expect to spend several days before making the trip back in their machine. Mr. and Mrs. Booth are registered at the Monticello Hotel during their stay in Norfolk.

Called Meeting.
The last called meeting of the Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, before the convention of November 7, will be held in Lee Camp Hall this morning at 11 o'clock. It is specially requested that chairmen of committees and delegates will be present to hear final arrangements for the convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to be held in the city, November 7. No blanks for new members will be filled by the registrar after Tuesday.

Visiting Here.
Miss Louise Hoge, of Blacksburg, is spending some time in Richmond as the guest of her cousins, the Misses DeJarnette, at 207 N. Meadow St. Miss Sarah Bell of Dublin, is also spending some time in the city visiting the Misses DeJarnette.

In and Out of Town.
Mrs. Albert Ritchie, who spent September at Atlantic City, is now visiting her brother, Henry Landon Cabell, here and will later open her town house in Baltimore.

Miss Doris Jones returned to Richmond Friday, after being entertained at Old Point for ten days.

Mrs. J. Pinckney Williamson, Jr., who is visiting Mrs. George Logan in Salem, will shortly be the guest of Mrs. J. J. Hickey, in this city.

Miss Virginia Ramsey, of Richmond, who has been visiting friends in Radford, is now in Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rutherford and the Misses Rutherford have returned to their home in Baltimore, after spending the summer and late fall near Richmond.

Mrs. E. L. Simonds, of New Orleans, is a guest of Mrs. E. L. Beniss, at her home on East Grace Street.

Mrs. A. A. Booth, of this city, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Lea, at their home in Danville.

Mrs. Sally L. Nelson, of Roanoke, is visiting her son, John Hart, at 1200 Floyd Avenue.

Underwear for men,
good fleece lined, for 50c.
Athletic Ribbed, 50c.
Half Wool, 75c.
90 per cent. wool, in white, grey and red, $1.

GARLAND ELECTED HEAD OF SENIORS

Richmond College Academic and Law Class Honors Keysville Student.

G. G. GARLAND.

G. G. Garland, of Keysville, a prominent student in school life, was elected president of the senior academic and law classes of Richmond College yesterday afternoon at a spirited meeting. Other officers elected were as follows: H. M. Taylor, vice-president; Miss Lancaster, secretary; Charles O'Neil, treasurer; J. E. Welsh, orator; G. L. H. Winfield, historian; W. A. Simpson, editor-in-chief of the "Spider"; and M. V. Richards, business manager of the "Spider."

The new class president is a graduate of the Fork Union Military Academy of the class of '06. He entered Richmond College the same year. He is a member of the Omega Phi Epsilon Fraternity, the Varistia Club, the German Club and the Mu Sigma Rho Literary Society.

Found Dead by Railroad Track.
Special to The Times-Dispatch. A body was found by a railroad track near the city Sunday morning. The body was that of a man, aged about forty-five years old, was found dead near the railroad track northeast of the city Sunday morning. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that the man came to his death by a blow on the head. The impression prevails that he was killed by a train.

CIRCUS FOLK TO GIVE BIG SHOW

Street Parade To-Morrow Morning Will Bring Out Many Wild Animals.

Before sunrise to-morrow morning there will be a veritable canvas city built upon four grounds where the Barnum & Bailey circus will give two performances, closing its season in Richmond. There will be an invasion of 1,250 people, and all of them will be fed before 9 o'clock in order that they may be ready for the big street parade, which will leave the grounds at 10 o'clock and march through the city over the usual route.

The first of the five trains is expected to arrive here shortly after midnight. On it will come the commissary outfit. The menagerie and parade equipment will follow, while the third section will be composed of the shops, canvas and the majority of the horses. The fourth will bring the circus' properties, ring horses and draft wagons. The train on which the performers make their home will be the last section.

After the stretching of the tents, which will cover fourteen acres, and other preliminary work, the first event of interest will be the street parade. In this feature Richmond is promised the longest line of horses, wagons, wild animals, bands and novelties it has ever witnessed.

The afternoon performance will begin at 2 o'clock, while the evening show starts at 8. To give visitors ample time to view the menagerie, which has a baby giraffe, said to be the only one ever exhibited in America, the doors will open an hour before each performance.

Hugh-Jones.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Danville, Va., October 23.—The funeral of Hugh Jones took place today at Danville, and the interment was made in the family burying ground near Dry Fork, this county. Mr. Jones was a prominent farmer of this section. He leaves his widow, six sisters and six brothers.

BUILDING IS TOTAL LOSS.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Williamsburg, Va., October 23.—Fire at 5 o'clock yesterday morning destroyed a small frame store building just west of Williamsburg and its contents, a stock of general merchandise, valued at $400, was a total loss. D. R. Massenburg, the owner, believes the store was first robbed and then set afire by the thief.

The building committee in charge of the restoration of the old courthouse here has decided to reduce the width of the rostrum by several feet. Under the plans the rostrum takes up about one-third of the floor space. Completion of the work of restoration has been delayed by the miscarriage by the railroads of certain material.

WRIGHT'S GLIDER DASHES TO GROUND

Turns Over in Air, and Aviator Has Narrow Escape From Serious Injury.

TRYING OUT NEW MECHANISM
Designed to Make Travel in Air as Safe as It is on Earth.

Kill Devil Hill, N. C., October 23.—Orville Wright had a narrow escape from serious injury to-day, when his glider turned over in the air and dashed to the ground. The machine was disabled, but not so badly that it cannot be repaired again for flights to-morrow or Wednesday. To-day's accident was the second the machine has met with since the present experiments were begun.

Wright had made one short glide in the machine, and was essaying a second when the glider began to turn turtle slowly in a cross wind. The aviator scrambled nimbly over the machine as it turned, with the result that he was on top of it when it dived to earth, bottom side up. Wright's injuries consisted of a severe laceration of his trousers and a slight shaking up.

To make travel in the air as practically safe as it is on the earth is the aim of the Wright brothers. The study of aviation is the world over. The Wrights began their work upon it before 1907. What they have accomplished, if anything, both Orville and Wilbur are keeping in characteristic silence.

It is expected that their newest mechanism will be sent here from the factory at Dayton and tried out on the glider. In some respects, the Wright contrivance is said to resemble the aileron device used on the Curtiss biplane and some of the foreign machines. Ailerons are small wings, looking much like window shutters. They are attached to the main plane. The principle in which they operate is that when a tricky gust tilts the aeroplane out of balance one of the ailerons dips down while another flaps upward. That makes a difference in the air resistance on the sides of the aeroplane, and helps it to settle back to level. One of the Curtiss machines equipped with ailerons has been in the Wright factory at Dayton several weeks.

The device which the Wright brothers may try to apply this principle with the use of a pendulum hanging into space below the aeroplane. The law of gravity, of course, is expected to keep the pendulum hanging straight downward, like a plumb bob. The lower end of the pendulum will be connected with the ailerons, and as the aeroplane dips from side to side gravity will cause the pendulum to swing. The swinging of the pendulum is depended upon to operate the ailerons up and down, and restore the stability of the flying machine.

The Wright brothers' first device for balancing an aeroplane was patented in 1907, but tangles with other inventions were encountered, and it has never been used.

Until recently all birdmen have looked upon automatic balancing devices with disfavor. It is said that none of them had ever worked quickly enough to restore the balance of an aeroplane after it had lost its equilibrium. A fatal gust of wind, it is said, would do its work in less than the fraction of a second, which the stability device requires to operate. In many cases hand control has been as quick as the wind, and has even anticipated its action, according to the experience and alertness of the aviator.

TURNED BLIND ALMOST FELL

Mrs. Hansen Says At First Her Case Seemed Hopeless, But She Finally Won Out.

Mobile, Ala.—"For seven years," says Mrs. Sigurd Hansen, of this city, "I suffered with womanly troubles, and, at last, was operated on."

I felt better for a time, but soon I had the same trouble as before.

I had dizzy spells, and would turn blind and almost fall over. I had pains in my back and side, and was not able to work.

Half the time I could not eat any breakfast, and I always felt weak and had a headache.

One day my husband got me a bottle of Cardui and I tried it. I felt better, so I took more.

Now I am well and feel fine. My doctor says I am looking better than ever. I have a good appetite and sleep well.

It is all due to Cardui. I only wish every suffering woman would try it. They would soon feel as good as I do."

You may be sure, when Cardui will relieve and cure such a serious case as that of Mrs. Hansen that it will much more quickly and certainly help those women who have no serious symptoms, but are just weak and ailing.

Are you?

Try it.

N. B.—Write to Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper on request.

Special Offerings Today

Turnish Your Home At

RYAN SMITHS BIG STORE

TEN AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN AWARDS

Sauers

THE BEST FLAVORING EXTRACTS

BY EVERY TEST

OVER 100 YEARS

Dreyfus & Co.

To-Day A Great Sale of Suits

50 Imported Model Suits worth to $60 go on sale at 29.50

ENJOYED LIBERTY ONLY NINE DAYS

John R. Walsh, Shortly Following Release From Penitentiary, Dies at Home.

Chicago, October 23.—John R. Walsh, former head of the Chicago National Bank, died at his home here to-day. He lived only nine days to enjoy the liberty of his parole from the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, gained by the continuous efforts of family and friends since his incarceration of one year eight months and twenty-six days. Death was caused by myocarditis, an inflammation of the muscles of the heart.

The banker was seventy-four years old. Members of his family attributed the immediate cause of his death to his imprisonment, and charged President Taft and Attorney-General Wickham with responsibility in failing to arrange the parole earlier.

"They wanted the last ounce of blood," said Orville E. Babcock, son-in-law of Walsh.

"Who do you mean by they?" "President Taft and Attorney-General Wickham," he replied. "We presented them with statements by Dr. Frank Billings and Dr. Joseph A. Capp, stating that Mr. Walsh was dangerously ill, and that further confinement meant his death. They ignored these medical statements, and his death resulted from the long delay in obtaining his release."

Mr. Walsh entered the Leavenworth penitentiary in January, 1910, to begin a five-year sentence. Members of his family said this was equivalent to a life sentence, and at once began to work for his release. His health began to fail, and examining physicians at the penitentiary said he was suffering from a hardening of the arteries. After his release he was considerably weakened by a twenty-mile automobile ride in the cold from the prison to Kansas City.

Depositors Paid in Full.
Mr. Walsh was convicted of misappropriating funds of the bank for the use of his other properties, the Bedford quarries, the Southern Indiana Railway, the Chicago Chronicle and others. All of the depositors were paid in full. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary L. Walsh, three daughters—Mrs. L. Blah Baldwin, Mrs. Orville E. Babcock, Miss Mary Walsh, and two sons, John W. and Richard W.

Mr. Walsh was born in County Cork, Ireland, and came here more than sixty years ago. His early struggle was as a newspaper peddler, he developed into a newspaper editor, and gradually acquiring funds, until he gained a place in a bank. Thence he fought his way upward. Finally, when his other properties demanded more cash than he had, Walsh was forced to draw money from his banks for their use. In 1907 the Chicago National, the Equitable Trust Company and the Home Savings Bank, all controlled by Walsh, closed their doors, and he was indicted.

He was found guilty, and December 3, 1909, was placed in custody of a United States marshal. He remained at home, however, until the last legal step to prevent imprisonment was taken, and he entered the penitentiary over a month later.

Condition Long Serious.
Leavenworth, Kan., October 23.—When news of the sudden death of John R. Walsh was conveyed to Major F. W. McLaughlin, warden of the Federal penitentiary, he said: "I am not surprised. I was afraid during his stay here that he would never leave the prison alive. Particularly on the day of his parole I was alarmed for him. His condition had become weakened, and the excitement incident to his release overwhelmed him."

When Walsh was released he insisted on making the twenty-six mile trip to Kansas City in automobile. His son, Richard, who had come from Chicago with him, protested, but he was able to stand the journey.

When he arrived in Kansas City to board a train for Chicago Walsh plainly showed the effects of the trip. He remained cheerful, however, and insisted that he was all right.

"Father is feeling fine," said the younger man when reporters approached. "Even the long motor ride did not tire him. I expect him to be back at work in a few days."

The former banker smilingly nodded assent to what his son had said. He declined to make any statement. Walsh had served one year eight months and twenty-six days of his five-year sentence. He appeared personally before the parole board on September 26 last to present his petition for release.

Martin-Clarke.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Charlottesville, Va., October 23.—A romance which began at the University of Virginia two or three years ago culminated to-day in the marriage of S. DuVal Martin, a young attorney of North Garden, this county, a graduate trained nurse of the University of Virginia Hospital. The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock at the residence of J. Edwin Wood, and was performed by the Rev. H. W. Battle, D. D., of the High Street Baptist Church. Roy Jester, of Lynchburg, was best man, and the maid of honor was Miss Alice Clarke, sister of the bride. The groom is the son of S. A. Martin, of Lynchburg, and a partner of the law firm of Martin & Jester. Mr. and Mrs. Martin left for a trip to the principal Northern cities, and will be at home in Lynchburg after November 1.

TYPHOID TOTALS STILL DECREASE

Gains of Previous Years in Virginia Are Held, and More Ground Is Secured

BLUES APPEAL TO GOVERNOR
Ask Him to Remit Court-Martial Fines—State Awaits Railroad Taxes.

Not only were the remarkable gains of the two preceding years in the number of typhoid cases in Virginia retained during the fiscal year just closed, but a further decrease was recorded. According to figures just compiled by the State Health Department for the year ending October 1, the total number of cases was 11,399, against 11,813 for the year just preceding. The year was regarded as exceedingly unfavorable, because of the period of intensely hot weather in May, up to that time there had been marked decreases for every month, but in June and July there were increases. In 1910, when reaching the total of 19,700, for June the total cases were 1,115, against 729, the preceding year, while in July they were 2,614, as compared with 1,995 in the same month of 1910. However, in June, 1909, the total was 1,450, and in July of that year, it was 1,552.

Disease Follows Heat.
Various reasons for additional cases immediately following the extreme heat are given. One is that flies were thus permitted to breed earlier and more often, with an increase in the cases reported to the department. Another, and perhaps the main cause, is that the system becomes debilitated and has less opportunity to withstand the attacks of the germ.

A most remarkable chart has been prepared by Assistant Health Commissioner A. L. W. Smith, showing the analogy between high temperature and typhoid fever. It covers the past three fiscal years, being averaged for this period. The cases have been moved up one month, since about that time always elapses between the catching of the infection and the time the case is reported to the department. It shows that with the greatest regularity, the hot weather is followed by increase in cases. Following the unreasonable weather of the latter part of May of this year, the total soared high for June and July, while in August and September, when the weather was more moderate, the cases were reduced largely in number, thus indicating that the total of people whose systems were in position to absorb the infection, was exhausted by having the disease earlier.

For ten months of the past year there were much fewer cases than in 1910. It was the hot May weather which brought up the total for the year.

Cities Cleaned Up.
A vast preponderance of causes lies in unsatisfactory disposal of sewerage in country districts. The city of Richmond, Norfolk and Lynchburg. In these places, a large percentage of cases are traceable to infection gathered elsewhere.

A recent inspection in Lee county, of which a chart has been made, illustrates the result of carelessness. A girl brought the infection from Tennessee, and in her home there were six cases as a result. People from three houses nearby helped to nurse, and in all these houses typhoid appeared and was spread. In some of the spring which supplied the first house became infected, and from this spring water was served in a nearby church and in a schoolhouse, which resulted in other cases—in all, thirty-three—where there should have been but one.

BLUES APPEAL

Ask Governor to Remit Fines Imposed
Governor Mann has before him the appeals of seven members of the Richmond Blues, who were recently fined by court-martial for failing to attend camp at Basic City in July. The fines are said to be rather heavy, and the men felt that they might secure leniency by taking the case to the executive, which they had a right to do, since he is commander-in-chief.

The Governor read the papers in the case yesterday, but has not decided upon his action. The men had more or less good excuses for attendance, but failed to take the proper steps in some instances, to secure furloughs.

Big Checks Not Received.
No one of the larger railroads of the State has as yet come forward with a check for taxes, herewith to relieve the treasury. The Chesapeake and Potomac and Martinsburg's check was received yesterday, but it amounts to only a little more than $15,000, as the Virginia part of this line is only nine miles long, between Winchester and the West Virginia line.

The railroads have until November 1, to pay, and evidently they have counted interest. The State is barely managing to get by, and would probably be unable to do so on November 1 were it not for this railroad money.

Published His Jokes.
Governor Mann feels that one representative of the press has treated him a little unfairly. In the current number of the Oil and Plant Journal there is printed a stenographic report of his address before the recent paint and oil convention in this city. Now, this speech contained none of the six of the Governor's very best jokes, and are another meeting comes around, he will be obliged to accumulate a new assortment. Publicity has put these jokes out of business.

Signal Corps Captain Named.
The first step in the formation of a signal corps was taken yesterday when a commission was issued to J. L. Thomas, now first lieutenant in Grimes Battery of field artillery, to be captain in the signal corps, Virginia Volunteers. He will report at Adjutant-General Sale's office within sixty days for examination.

It is planned to have one corps in Richmond and one in Norfolk. The personnel of these troops is high, since two-thirds of the members must be electricians and telegraph operators.

Inspect New Bridge.
A subcommittee of the Committee on Streets, which has supervision of construction of the new May Bridge, will meet at the bridge to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock to take up certain questions which have arisen in connection with the progress, relative to approach to the bridge proper from the island.

JEWELRY REPAIRING

Our expert workmen enable us to give most satisfactory service, and our prices are very reasonable.

Schwarzschild Bros.,
Richmond's Leading Jewelers,
Second and Broad Sts.

CLUB SITE SOLD BY DIXIE AERIE

Eagles Unwilling to Locate Near Church Because of Opposition.

Unwilling to move into their new home because of the opposition of the Grace Street Baptist Church, which would have been next door neighbor, Dixie Aerie, No. 338, Fraternal Order of Eagles, yesterday secured an order for the sale of the property at a loss. On application of the lodge, Judge R. Carter Scott, in the City Circuit Court, entered an order appointing W. H. Lowry, G. N. Dyson and H. C. Chamberlaine as trustees. The court also approves and confirms the action of the trustees in contracting to sell certain real estate on Foushee Street, between Broad and Grace Streets, known as 207 North Foushee Street, recently acquired by the trustees from W. L. Johnson for $25,000, to W. H. Straus for $24,750. Besides the decline in price, the lodge loses the costs of both transfers, and of having the title examined, as well as of the court proceedings.

As soon as it was announced that the Eagles had purchased the property on Foushee Street as a clubhouse there was a united protest on the part of the church people, who gave notice that they would oppose the transfer of the bar privileges of the club to the new clubhouse.

At Fountains & Elsewhere
Ask for

"HORLICK'S" Malted Milk

The Original and Genuine
The Food-drink for All Ages.

At restaurants, hotels, and fountains. Delicious, invigorating and sustaining. Keep it on your sideboard at home.

Don't travel without it.
A quick lunch prepared in a minute. Take no imitation. Just say "HORLICK'S" Not in Any Milk Trust

DAERIAN Shoe
High Arch
$3.50 and $4